

Field trip to “Gulf Interior” at Bahrain International Exhibition Center:

Activity Coordinators:

Dr. Mustafa Othman

Ms. Khadija Saeed

Date: Wed, 27th April, 2016 .

Student attended: Interior Design Students (IDN 272, Materials & Sources and IDN 394 Design Project IV)

The trip comes after many class discussions about the Materials and its various different forms and uses. Its properties, fire ratings, sustainability as well as its use in interior design are being discussed in the subject.

The objectives of this trip where to allow the interior design students to see and experience the materials used to manufacture furniture, to see how it is manufactured, and its use in various forms, applications, and processes and to be able to attend workshops and seminar in furious topics of interior design. And to meet real local and international people working in the field of interior design and able collect interior design samples materials and catalogues.

It was quite a different and enjoyable experience, to be out in the field. Students where fascinating to see new and existing materials used in interior design and to be exposed to all local and international interior design styles that Is manufactured into the different essential products that we use every day in our life, but never pay attention to, or think about, and how it is made. One thing students may remember is the natural smell of real interior design materials that was spread throughout the whole expiation. Students were able to attend seminar and workshops that related to their profession.

In conclusion, it was a very enjoyable and a memorable trip and an excellent learning experience. All students has enjoyed and benefited a lot and have asked for more of such trip.
